

HUMAN RIGHTS STUDIES FOR 21st CENTURY CALIFORNIANS - a workshop for High School Educators

JUNE 14 & 15

Attending teachers will engage with scholars and professional learning specialists to explore developing curriculum and resources which support classroom-based Human Rights and Genocide Studies education.

We are exploring the question:

How can we best support K-12 educators teach genocides and other mass atrocities, as well as support students as they explore issues of human rights, social justice, and public service and advocacy?

Sessions will explore:

- Human Rights as Global History
- Connecting the Classroom, Student Advocacy, and Public Service
- Comparative Genocide with a special focus on the recent U.S. acknowledgement of the Armenian Genocide

Attendees will receive:

- Dinner Day 1; Breakfast & Lunch Day 2
- A modest gift card
- A certificate for 10 professional development hours or the option to purchase 1.0 Quarter Continuing Education Units.

JUNE 14: Noon - 5pm
Dinner following

JUNE 15: 9am - Lunch
Optional resource sharing session

INTERNATIONAL HOUSE
DAVIS

10 College Park, Davis, CA 95616

The workshop will be held in-person as is permitted by regional and statewide guidelines. Attendees must show proof of a recent negative COVID test or proof of FULL vaccination. Space is limited. Application is due June 1, 2021

UC DAVIS
HUMAN RIGHTS STUDIES

UCDHP The History Project
AT UC DAVIS

Camille Pon
cjpon@ucdavis.edu

<https://human-rights.ucdavis.edu/>